

Queen of Heart

(A poem adapted from Eagles' songs)

Desperado

Why don't I come to my senses?
The things that are pleasing me
Will hurt me someday

Don't lust the Queen of Diamonds
I know the Queen of Heart is my best bet
But sometimes I only want the ones I can't get
Desperado

On a pitch black highway
I saw some flicking lights
I had to stop for the night
There the Queen stood at the doorway
I was thinking to myself this could heaven
Or this could be paradise

She show me the way
With her perfume permeating the air
I could hear voices behind the bar
Welcome to Hotel Beverly Hills
Such a heavenly place
With an Angel that can fly

Queen of Heart, now you turned 40
I just want to say I am sorry
But deep in my heart I love you

I like the way your dazzling earring sway
And leering at your eyes that are so blue
I want sleep with you on the beach tonight
With a full moon lightning up the sky
'Cause I got tranquil and easy feeling
I know we won't let each other down

I remembered the time I spend at the Chamber
I was Dr. Love, the Karaoke King
I was a maniac
And you were the matriarchy barmaid
You devoted your love to me
But I ignored your call

Queen of Heart, now you turned 40
I just want to say I am sorry
But deep in my heart I love you

Now I can see the rainbow above
It's time to come down from the fences
And open my heart
Before it's too late
So please call up the Captain
To bring us some Champaign

I know it's been over ten year since we last met
Something is telling me I will see you again
'Cause I know you won't let me down
As a friend and a lover
Time is ticking away
But one day, someday, we'll be together again

Queen of Heart, now you turned 40
I just want to say I am sorry
But deep in my heart I love you

Queen of Heart, now you turned 40
I just want to say I am sorry
But deep in my heart I love you
